2. Yes, the page will adjust to how big I open the inspect element
3. It changes the layout that benefits the mobile user for convenience use such as bigger touch buttons, and horizontal layout. The thumbnail and title appears larger by resolution to make it easier to navigate on phone to which is smaller than PC screen in comparison.
4. Since most PC screens are larger than mobiles, it allows the webpage to have smaller buttons by pixels thus fits more videos in 1 page
5. The simple layout that have always kept since the beginning and the option of switching dark mode. This matters to me because straining my eyes on a white background for long periods of time hurts my eyes, a headache trying to read text in a small font.
